SMARTER HEALTHY CITIES BEYOND COVID-19"

Backgrounds

 Many cities in Taiwan have promoted healthy city (HC) projects since 2002. In 2008, the Taiwan Alliance for Healthy Cities (TAHC) was launched to assist all local governments in effectively establishing, operating and promoting HC projects. We will share our experiences of establishing a platform and network to promote the HC program in Taiwan, which included HC contains six important indicators from WHO: (i) commitment to health, (ii) political decision-making, (iii) intersectoral action, (iv) community participation, (V) innovation and (vi) healthy public policy.

Healthy City Design

Backgrounds

HiAP can be said to be an intermediate objective of the HC movement. A theory-driven thematic analysis was conducted in the study with archived documents between 2003 and 2020. We try to initiate the health city 2.0 Taiwan, which integrate the sustainable program development goal (SDG) concepts into new HC program. The pilot study was launched in two cities (Tainan City and Keelung City) in 2021 and expect to broadly implement the HC 2.0 program in other Taiwan cities.
